TRV1000 Honored

For Immediate Release

Taylor Products TRV1000 Honored With Magazine Cover

Taylor Products, division of Magnum Systems, is pleased to announce that the TRV1000 was selected to be on the cover of May issue of Powder Bulk Engineering magazine.

The TRV1000 is the latest in innovation from Taylor Products. The placer offers the latest in robotic technology through Taylor Product's unique relationship with FANUC Robotics. The placer is capable of placing bags on multiple machines, being mounted in multiple positions, and customizable to your specific application.

Powder and Bulk Engineering is the only monthly technical publication edited exclusively for readers in the North American powder and bulk solids market.

Taylor Products, division of Magnum Systems, is a leader in material handling, weighing, filling, and packaging equipment. For over 35 years Taylor Products has provided customers with versatile, cost effective, packaging equipment, and continues this trend today.
